Community Action Center Confidentiality Policy

Respecting the privacy of our clients, donors, members, staff, volunteers and of Community Action Center itself is a basic value of our Agency. Personal and financial information is confidential and should not be disclosed or discussed with anyone without permission or authorization from the Executive Director. Care shall also be taken to ensure that unauthorized individuals do not overhear any discussion of confidential information and that documents containing confidential information are not left in the open or inadvertently shared.

Volunteers of Community Action Center may be exposed to agency or client information, both verbal and written, which is confidential and/or privileged and proprietary in nature. It is the policy of our Agency that such information must be kept confidential both during and after volunteer service. Volunteers are expected to return materials containing privileged or confidential information at the time of service expiration.

Unauthorized disclosure of confidential or privileged information is a serious violation of this policy and will subject the person(s) who made the unauthorized disclosure to appropriate discipline.

Code of Ethics

The mission and goals of Community Action Center call every employee and volunteer to dedicate and commit to a high standard of ethics. Therefore, we recognize the critical role of conscience in choosing among courses of action and taking into account the moral ambiguities of life and commit ourselves to:

1. Demonstrate the highest standards of personal integrity, truthfulness, honesty, and fortitude in all our public activities in order to inspire public confidence and trust in our agency.
2. Serve the public with respect, concern, courtesy, and responsiveness, recognizing that service to the public is beyond service to ourselves.
3. Strive for personal professional excellence and encourage the professional development of our staff, volunteers and those entering our field.
4. Approach the agency and operational duties with a positive attitude and constructively support open communication, creativity, dedication and compassion.
5. Serve in such a way that we do not realize undue personal gain from the performance of our official duties.
6. Avoid any interest or activity that is in conflict with the conduct of our official duties.
7. Respect and protect the privileged information onto which we have access in the course of our official duties.
8. Respect, support, study, and when necessary, work to improve federal and state agencies, employees, clients, and all citizens.
9. Maintain a professional relationship with all clients at all times
10. Adhere to the rule of confidentiality of all records, material and knowledge concerning those who we serve.
11. Avoid discriminating among persons served or professionals on the basis of race, sex, creed, age, sexual orientation, handicapped characteristics, or other individual characteristics.
12. Respect the rights and views of other volunteers, clients, and professionals.
13. Maintain respect for institutional policies and management functions within agencies and institutions, and take the initiative toward helping to improve such policies if it will best serve the interest of those served.
14. Make a commitment to assess my own personal strengths, limitations, biases, and effectiveness on a continuing basis; that I shall continuously strive for self-improvement.
